1. Psychology and counselling services and maximum fees

The information in Table 1 and Table 2 sets out legally binding requirements extracted from the Workers Compensation (Psychology and Counselling Fees) Order 2024 (Fees Order), the Workers Compensation Guidelines (WC Guidelines) and the Guidelines for the Provision of Relevant Services (Health and Related Services) (Service Provider Guidelines). The Fees Order¹, WC Guidelines² and the Service Provider Guidelines³ are the ultimate source of your legal obligations. The full text of the Fees Order, the WC Guidelines and the Service Provider Guidelines can be accessed using the links and references provided at the bottom of this page.

The maximum fees in these tables apply to services provided on or after 1 February 2024. The related injury may have been received before, on or after this date. The maximum fees apply to treatment of exempt workers and to injured workers receiving treatment outside of NSW.

2. Understanding this document

This document is intended to provide easily accessible information on fees, billing and approval processes and other practice requirements and guidance in the NSW workers compensation scheme, drawn together from multiple sources into a single document. It is anticipated this will make administration of billing, approval processes and practice requirements easier for insurers and providers and reduce the potential for billing and coding errors.

This document refers to legally binding requirements imposed by the:

- Workers Compensation Act 1987 (1987 Act)
- Workplace Injury Management and Workers Compensation Act 1998 (1998 Act)
- Workers Compensation Regulation 2016 (the Regulation)
- Workers Compensation Guidelines (WC Guidelines)
- Workers Compensation Guidelines for the approval of treating allied health practitioners 2021 (Allied Health Guideline)
- Workers Compensation (Psychology and Counselling Fees) Order 2024 (Fees Order)
- State Insurance and Care Governance Act 2015 (SICG Act)
- State Insurance and Care Governance Regulation 2021 (SICG Regulation)
- Guidelines for the Provision of Relevant Services (Health and Related Services) (Service Provider Guidelines).

The requirements are reproduced here for your convenience. This document also includes best practice guidance from SIRA.

The legislation, Fees Order and guidelines set out above are the ultimate source of your legal obligations. The words 'must', 'required' (and variations of that word) or 'mandatory' indicate a legal requirement that must be complied with. The words 'should' or 'is expected' indicate recommended best practice.

2.1. Insurer pre-approval

Insurer pre-approval means that certain treatments and services cannot be provided or charged for until the insurer has provided approval. Approval is sought by the Practitioner by submitting an Allied Health Treatment Request form.

Insurer pre-approval is required for face-to-face and telehealth services, except in the following circumstances:

- if the injury was not previously treated by a Psychologist or Counsellor and the treatment begins within three months of the injury, up to eight consultations may be provided without insurer pre-approval; or
- if the same Practitioner is continuing treatment within three months of the injury, and sought pre-approval by sending an AHTR to the insurer, and the insurer did not respond within five working days of receiving the AHTR, up to eight consultations (per the AHTR) can be provided without insurer pre-approval; or
- if the injury was not previously treated by a Psychologist or Counsellor and the treatment begins more than three months after the injury, up to three consultations can be provided without insurer pre-approval; or
- if the Practitioner previously treated the injury more than three months ago, one consultation with the same Practitioner can be provided without pre-approval by the insurer. This is considered a new episode of care; or
- if the injury was previously treated by a Psychologist or Counsellor, one consultation with a different Practitioner from this group can be provided without pre-approval from the insurer.

2.2. Types of consultations that may be provided

2.2.1. Initial consultation

The initial consultation is the first session provided by the Practitioner in respect of an injury, or the first consultation in a new episode of care for the same injury. The initial consultation is to be delivered on a one-to-one basis with the worker and may include:

- history taking
- assessment
- diagnostic formulation (psychologists only)
- tailored goal setting and treatment planning
- setting expectations of recovery and return to work
- treatment
- clinical recording
- communication with referrer, insurer and other relevant parties and
- preparation of an Allied Health Treatment Request when indicated.

2.2.2. Subsequent consultations

A subsequent consultation is any consultation provided after the initial consultation provided by the Practitioner irrespective of the modality of treatment provided. The subsequent consultation is to be delivered on a one-to-one basis with the worker and may include:

- re-assessment
- intervention or treatment
- setting expectations of recovery and return to work
- clinical recording and
- preparation of an Allied Health Treatment Request when indicated.

2.3. Trauma focused psychological treatment

Trauma focused psychological treatment means cognitive behavioural therapy (CBT) or eye movement desensitisation reprocessing (EMDR) provided by a Psychologist in accordance with the Expert guidelines: Diagnosis and treatment of post-traumatic stress disorder in emergency service workers endorsed by the Black Dog Institute.

This specialised treatment applies only to a worker who has been diagnosed with a work-related post-traumatic stress disorder.

2.4. Requirements for a case conference

A case conference is a face-to-face meeting, video conference or teleconference and must:

- seek to clarify the worker's capacity/fitness for work, barriers to return to work, and strategies to overcome these barriers
- be an open forum to ensure parties share the same expectations about the worker's recovery at work or return to suitable employment.

A case conference can be between the Practitioner and any or all of the following:

- the employer
- the workplace rehabilitation provider
- an injury management consultant
- the Insurer; and/or
- other treatment practitioner/s delivering services to the worker (including the nominated treating doctor).

A case conference can be between the worker (including a support person, if requested by the worker) and the Practitioner but must also include a person from the list above.

The following are not considered a case conference and are not to be charged as such:

- discussions between the Practitioner and the worker (and their support person, if requested by the worker), which are not attended by a person from the list above

- discussions between treating doctors and the Practitioner relating to treatment. These are considered a normal interaction between referring doctor and Practitioner.

The Practitioner is to retain file notes of the case conference, including date, duration, participants, topics and outcomes. This information may be required for invoicing or auditing purposes.

2.5. Payment of travel costs

Travel costs can be claimed when the most appropriate clinical management of the worker requires the Practitioner to travel away from their normal practice. Travel costs need to be pre-approved by the insurer. The rate per kilometre applies only to the number of kilometres of travel reasonably involved and directly related to the treatment.

Travel costs cannot be claimed where:

- the Practitioner provides services on a regular or contracted basis to facilities such as a private hospital, hydrotherapy pool or gymnasium.
- the Practitioner does not have (or is employed by a business that does not have) a normal practice for the delivery of treatment services (e.g. mobile practice).

Where multiple workers are being treated in the same visit to a facility or in the same geographical area on the same day, the reasonable travel charge must be divided evenly between those claims.

3. Practice requirements for psychologists and counsellors

To give or provide a treatment or service to a worker in NSW, a Psychologist or Counsellor must:

- be a psychologist with general registration under the Health Practitioner Regulation National Law (NSW) or equivalent Health Practitioner Regulation National Law in their jurisdiction with the Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA); or
- be a counsellor who is a:
 - full clinical member of the Psychotherapy and Counselling Federation of Australia; or
 - mental health social worker accredited with the Australian Association of Social Workers; or
 - Level 3 or 4 member of the Australian Counsellors Association.

In addition, the Allied Health Guidelines requires Psychologists and Counsellors to be approved by SIRA to provide services in the NSW workers compensation scheme.

All allied health practitioners in the NSW workers compensation system should adopt the principles of the Clinical Framework for the Delivery of Health Services. The five principles are:

1. Measure and demonstrate the effectiveness of treatment
2. Adopt a biopsychosocial approach
3. Empower the injured person to manage their injury
4. Implement goals focused on optimising function, participation and return to work
5. Base treatment on the best available research.

3.1. Allied Health Treatment Request

When requesting approval of treatment services, including equipment needs and case conferencing, Practitioners should provide clinical justification to support the services requested.

The Allied Health Treatment Request allows you to:

- describe the impact of the injury on the worker, including current signs and symptoms and capacity to engage in work and usual activities
- document risk screening, identify barriers to recovery and strategies to address
- set SMART goals and empower the worker to be actively involved in their recovery
- outline a treatment plan including both self management and your proposed intervention
- demonstrate the effectiveness of treatment using standardised outcome measures

- indicate the anticipated timeframe the recovery will take.

3.2. Treating exempt workers

Exempt workers include police officers, paramedics and firefighters, coal miners and volunteers prescribed by the Workers Compensation (Bush Fire, Emergency and Rescue Services) Act 1987.

Exempt workers are not required to use SIRA-approved Psychologists and Counsellors.

There is no requirement for exempt workers to seek pre-approval from their employer's insurer for treatment. However, exempt workers are to be made aware that payment of treatment and services for exempt workers will be assessed by insurers based on whether the treatment or service is required as a result of the injury and is considered reasonably necessary and on the provision of properly verified costs.

3.3. Service provision via telehealth

Part 2 of the Service Provider Guidelines requires that Practitioners must provide telehealth services:

- in combination with in-person services unless the services are:
 - ✓ allied health mental health treatment services, or
 - ✓ pre-approved by the insurer managing the injured worker's claim for delivery exclusively by telehealth.
- by videoconference unless it is unavailable. Email, SMS, or an app may only be used in conjunction with the delivery of telehealth via videoconference.

The Service Provider Guidelines also require that you must only provide telehealth services to an injured worker if:

- the injured worker requests or consents to participate in a telehealth service, and
- the Practitioner determines that telehealth is appropriate for the injured worker concerned following consideration of the following factors:
 - ✓ whether a physical assessment or treatment is required
 - ✓ whether it will compromise worker outcomes
 - ✓ availability of support at the injured worker's location
 - ✓ availability and access to a suitable device e.g. videoconferencing units/systems or a personal device capable of videoconferencing
 - ✓ ability of the injured worker to participate, considering any physical, mental, social, and cognitive barriers
 - ✓ ability to schedule telehealth session within the timeframes for a service
 - ✓ the injured person's access to fast secure internet connection and sufficient internet or mobile data quota/allowance
 - ✓ the injured person's capability/capacity to access care this way.

4. Requirements for payment of fees

4.1. The fees in Table 1 and Table 2 are maximum fees

You must not charge more than the maximum fees stated in this document and gazetted in the Fees Order. You may charge a lower fee.

The maximum fees apply even if the treatment is provided outside of NSW for workers entitled to compensation under the 1987 Act.

The employer/insurer is not liable to pay the cost of treatment in excess of the maximum fees set by SIRA and may seek to recover any fees in excess of the maximum fee that have been paid to a Practitioner.

Insurers may set their own fee limits for services to workers. These must not exceed the maximum fees in the Fees Order.

Workers are not liable for the cost of treatment covered by the Fees Order. The employer (and/or their insurer) is liable to pay these fees.

4.2. Circumstances in which fees will not be paid

A Practitioner must not:

- request pre-payment of fees for reports and services from the insurer
- charge a fee for cancellation or non-attendance by an injured worker for treatment services.
- directly bill relevant services to an injured worker who has a claim
- charge the injured person any additional or gap fee.

The employer/insurer is not liable to pay for treatment or services that are provided by a Practitioner who is suspended or disqualified from practice, or if the Practitioner's registration is limited or subject to any condition imposed as a result of a disciplinary process.

4.3. Payment for treatment of severe injuries

The Fees Order does not set a maximum fee for treatment provided to a worker with a severe injury because of the complexity and additional care requirements for these cases.

Instead, the Practitioner is to agree fees for severe injury treatment with the insurer prior to the delivery of services.

When invoicing, Practitioners are to use the most appropriate code/s from Part 1 but will not be bound by the maximum fee set for that code.

Use of the Allied Health Treatment Request form is optional for the request of treatment for workers with severe injury.

Severe injury refers to one or more of the following diagnoses:

- spinal cord injury — acute traumatic lesion of the neural elements in the spinal canal (spinal cord and cauda equina) resulting in permanent sensory deficit, motor deficit or bladder/bowel dysfunction as a result of the workplace injury
- traumatic brain injury — based on evidence of a significant brain injury which results in permanent impairments of cognitive, physical and/or psychosocial functions. A defined period of post traumatic amnesia plus a Functional Independence Measure (FIM) at five or less, or two points less than the age appropriate norm (or equivalent where other assessment tools are used) is required
- multiple amputations (or equivalent loss of function) of the upper and/or lower extremities or single amputations (or equivalent loss of function) involving forequarter amputation or shoulder disarticulation, hindquarter amputation, hip disarticulation or "short" trans femoral amputation involving the loss of 65% or more of the length of the femur
- burns — full thickness burns greater than 40% of the total body surface area or full thickness burns to the hands, face or genital area, or inhalation burns causing long term respiratory impairment, plus a FIM score at five or less, or two points less than the age norm (or equivalent where other assessment tools are used)
- permanent traumatic blindness based on the legal definition of blindness.

5. Penalties for non-compliance

SIRA and insurers will monitor compliance with billing and payments rules:

- the incorrect use of any item referred to in the Fees Order may result in the service provider being required to repay payments that have been incorrectly received.
- failure to comply with a provision of the workers compensation legislation, including the Workers Compensation Guidelines and the relevant fees order, or the Service Provider Guidelines may result in the provider being given a direction by SIRA. Non-compliance with the direction given is an offence and may result in SIRA pursuing a prosecution or penalty notice.

- the workers compensation legislation provides for criminal penalties for a person who:
 - commits fraud on the workers compensation legislation (s 235A of the 1998 Act) or
 - knowingly makes a false or misleading statement relating to a claim (s 235C of the 1998 Act).
- SIRA reserves the right to refer misconduct to the Health Professional Councils Authority, or the Health Care Complaints Commission, and/or other relevant professional bodies.

6. How to invoice

6.1. What information must I include on invoices?

To enable consistent data collection from service providers and insurers and to ensure accurate payments, certain information must be included on invoices. An example invoice is included below to assist providers and insurers. Invoices for relevant services rendered must include:

- ✓ the injured worker's first and last name, and claim number
- ✓ payee name, address, telephone number and email address
- ✓ payee Australian Business Number (ABN)
- ✓ name of the relevant service provider who delivered the relevant service
- ✓ in the case of allied health services, the following provider numbers:
 - the provider's SIRA approval number (where applicable), and
 - the provider's AHPRA number/professional association accreditation/membership number
 - in the case of allied health services provided interstate by a service provider who doesn't have a SIRA approval number, the service provider number INT0000 must be included on the invoice instead
 - in the case of allied health services provided to exempt workers, by a service provider who doesn't have a SIRA approval number, the service provider number EXT0000 must be included on the invoice instead.
- relevant SIRA payment classification code
- service cost for each SIRA payment classification code
- date of service
- date of invoice (must be on the day of or after last date of service listed on the invoice).

Invoices must be submitted within 30 calendar days of the service being provided.

7. Definitions

In this guide:

Allied Health Treatment Request (AHTR) refers to the SIRA form (available on the SIRA website) that must be used to request prior approval for treatment and services from the insurer where required. The AHTR is also used to communicate with the insurer about a worker's treatment, timeframes and anticipated outcomes.

Counsellor means a counsellor who is a full clinical member of the Psychotherapy and Counselling Federation of Australia (PACFA), or Accredited Mental Health Social Worker with the Australian Association of Social Workers (AASW) or an Australian Counsellors Association (ACA) member level 3-4.

Note: As outlined in the Allied Health Guideline, a Counsellor must be approved by the authority to deliver services in the NSW workers compensation system. The requirement to be approved does not apply to treatment provided interstate or to exempt workers.

Exempt worker refers to specific classes of workers set out in Part 19H of Schedule 6 of the 1987 Act for which most of the amendments made to the Workers Compensation Acts in 2012 and 2015 do not apply. These classes of workers include police officers, paramedics, fire fighters, coal miners and volunteers prescribed by the Workers Compensation (Bush Fire, Emergency and Rescue Services) Act 1987.

Expert guidelines means the Expert Guidelines: Diagnosis and Treatment of Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder in Emergency Service Workers endorsed by the Black Dog Institute.

First subsequent Certificate of Capacity means the first Certificate of Capacity issued by the worker's treating Psychologist subsequent to the initial Certificate of Capacity issued by the nominated treating doctor. This Psychologist must be approved by SIRA in accordance with any requirements under the Regulation. The purpose of the certificate is to provide information about a worker's capacity for work, enabling the insurer to determine the worker's weekly entitlements. Further information on the Certificate of Capacity treating physiotherapist or psychologist is available on the SIRA website.

Group/class intervention occurs where a Practitioner delivers a common service to more than one (1) person at the same time. Maximum class size is six (6) participants.

GST means the Goods and Services Tax payable under the GST Law.

GST Law has the same meaning as in the A New Tax System (Goods and Services Tax) Act 1999 of the Commonwealth.

Insurer means the employer's workers compensation insurer.

New episode of care is when a worker has ceased treatment for an injury and returns for additional treatment for the same injury after at least three months. The additional treatment may be with the same or a different practitioner.

Normal practice means a commercial place of business in or from which a Practitioner regularly operates an exercise physiology practice and provides treatment services. It also includes facilities where services may be delivered on a regular or contracted basis, such as a private hospital, hydrotherapy pool or gymnasium.

Practitioner in this document, means a psychologist or counsellor who delivers services in accordance with the Fees Order to a NSW worker.

Psychologist means a psychologist registered to provide psychology services with Australian Health Practitioner Regulation Agency (AHPRA).

Note: As outlined in the Allied Health Guideline, a Psychologist must be approved by the authority to deliver services in the NSW workers compensation system. The requirement to be approved does not apply to treatment provided interstate or to exempt workers.

Relevant service has the same meaning given in s26A of the State Insurance and Care Governance Act 2015 and means a service prescribed by the regulations provided in connection with a claim under the workers compensation and motor accidents legislation.

Report writing occurs only when the insurer requests a psychologist or counsellor compile a written report, other than an Allied Health Treatment Request, providing details of the worker's treatment, progress and work capacity. The insurer must provide pre-approval for such a service.

Treatment provided interstate: A treatment provider does not require SIRA approval under the Allied Health Guidelines to deliver treatment to a worker in the NSW compensation system where:

- the treatment provider practises exclusively outside of NSW and provides services in practices only outside of NSW and
- the NSW worker is living outside of NSW.

Use of private motor vehicle: Reimbursed in accordance with the "Use of private motor vehicle" set out in Item 6 of Table 1 (Rates and Allowances) to Part B (Monetary Rates) of the Crown Employees (Public Service Conditions of Employment) Reviewed Award 2009, at the rate effective 1 July 2022.
