Allowing tele health consults every 12months I feel is too long - a physical consultation should take place at least every 2-3 months in my opinion as a minimum - to ensure that effective optimum treatment is being prescribed and adhered to; improvements and dare I say deteriorations are able to be more closely monitored ensuring that the patient is receiving the care required in a timely manner - I understand of course the remote living issue so as long as the patient is feeling supported and receiving reasonable and necessary treatment whilst recovering a longer period of tele health should be considered reasonable
